

PEACE CONFERENCE
TO BE BROKEN UPNEWS FROM LONDON TO THIS EFFECT REPORTED TODAY.

THE LATEST DECISION

Means Resumption of Fighting.—Turkey's Finances Reported to be in Bad Shape.

London, Eng., Jan. 14.—The decision definitely to break up the peace conference in London simultaneously with the presentation of the Turkish government of the note of the European powers was reached today by the chief of the peace delegations of the Balkan allies.

The threatening note of the allies to the Turks is to be worded in such a way that it will become effective only in the event of the Ottoman government refusing compliance with the advice given to it by the ambassadors of the European powers.

The members of the European league
are of the opinion that the note drafted by the European diplomats is so diluted that it requires the admixture of a vitalizing tonic and this they think will be supplied by their threats to continue hostilities.

To End Armistice.
At the same time it was decided to instruct the commanders of the armed forces of the allies in the field to terminate the armistice which has been in operation since December 2d.

The resolutions of the representatives of Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Serbia will be communicated to the Porte in a formal note. Since December hostilities between Bulgaria and Serbia on the one side and Turkey on the other have entirely ceased, Greece, which did not sign the armistice protocol, however, has continued fighting against Turkey, both on sea and land with varying success.

Montenegro also which was nominally a party to the armistice, has been engaged in the interim in many severe skirmishes with the troops forming the garrison of the Turkish fortress of Scutari, which shows no sign of yielding. It is believed that the Ottoman troops there, most of whom form part of the regular army,
are fairly well provided with food
and ammunition as Scutari was always a great center of the grain
trade and contains a large arsenal.

Present Situation.
In the south of Epirus,
was the rallying point for large forces of Turkish troops who escaped from Monastir and other places in Macedonia and Albania.
The Greeks have closed all approaches to the fortress from the south, but to the north and west
the communications are still open and Greeks there are able to obtain supplies.

Conflicting reports as to conditions
in the great fortress of Adrianople are current, but it appears evident that Turkish troops and inhabitants of the city are suffering greatly from disease and lack of supplies.
They have been besieged ever since the last week of October by the Bulgarians who have since been reinforced by large bodies of Ser-vians from their victories on the other side of the peninsula.

Before the Tchataldja lines defending Constantinople there is a great army of Bulgarians who are strongly entrenched and fronting them are large bodies of Turkish troops, some of them the remnants of the defeated army which fled before the advancing Bulgarians and other fresh troops brought up from the provinces of Asia Minor.

In Financial Straits.
The funds in the Ottoman treasury
are insufficient to meet the coupon
of the Turkish 5 percent loan of 1895 which is due today but the Imperial Ottoman Bank has made arrangements to assure its payment. The loan amounted to $14,876,000 and the amount still outstanding as unredem-ed is $13,276,000.

The financial pressure on the Turkish government is so great at the present moment that the suspension of the payment of the salaries of officials
for two months is under consideration.

The latest advices received by the Turkish delegates show that the Ottoman grand council has not met yet
at Constantinople and that it probably will not meet. The Turkish envoys understand that Kiamil Pasha
the grand vizier will in all probability resign should the situation develop in such a way that the Grand council will be called together. Observers of the situation in London express the opinion that Turkey will reject the advice of the European powers and that hostilities will be resumed. The representatives of the Balkan allies declare that they are ready to face all events.

day Ohio's new governor James M.
Cox strongly favored among other things the direct election of United working men's compensation and the reduction in the hours of labor for

GOV. WILSON URGES
REVISION IN STATE
CORPORATION LAWSSends Annual Message to New Jersey Legislature Indicating Method of Correcting Laxity in Corporation Statutes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 14.—President Woodrow Wilson, in his capacity as governor of New Jersey, sent his second annual message to the legislature which convened today. It was his last formal appeal to the legislature for the completion of the program of progressive legislation for which he declared himself when he took office.

Foremost among the laws advocated
are a radical revision of the statutes governing corporations, and better
laws to the matter of drawing juries.
The governor recommends the commission form of government for cities,
and speaks strongly in favor of economics in the state administration.
In conclusion he expresses the hope that New Jersey will ratify the constitutional amendments providing for a tax on incomes, and the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. The governor's message was written while the president-elect was in Bermuda, and constitutes his only political writing since election.

At the outset of the document there is a personal note of regret at leaving New Jersey, and an expression of gratitude and obligation to those he stood by in carrying out reforms. Almost without preface, however, the governor calls attention to the laxity of the state's corporation laws. With the hope that New Jersey shall never again be called "the mother of trusts,"
the message is addressed to a legislature that is for the first time during his administration, democratic in both branches.

The corporation laws of the state notoriously stand in need of alteration, the governor says. They are manifestly inconsistent with the interests of the people in the all-important matter of monopoly, and as they stand, far from checking monopoly, they actually encourage it. The whole country has set its face against this method of forming vast combinations and creating monopoly. Governor Wilson declares, "I am sure that the people of New Jersey," he continues,
"do not dissent from the common judgment that our law must prevent these things and prevent them very effectually."

The governor says the statutes of the state should be amended to provide some responsible official supervision of the whole process of incorporation and provide, in addition,
salary checks upon unwarranted and fictitious increases of capital. No legitimate business will be injured or harmfully restricted by such action.
These matters affect the honor and good faith of the state, and should be acted upon at once and with clear purpose.

After declaring that the state should enact legislation to protect its people from irresponsible persons who offer for sale securities of every sort, the governor turned to the question of jury drawing. "Why has no legislature ever seriously and earnestly set itself to correct this condition?" he asks. "The drawing of grand juries,
and even upon occasion the drawing of petit juries, is notoriously subject to political influence and control in this state, and this can and should be remedied."

Continuing, the governor pointed out reforms in the state's taxation system, and suggested that the Board of Public Utility Commissioners be granted additional powers to eliminate dangerous grade railroad crossings in a "thoroughly practical fashion." The board, he urged, should also be given power to require railroads to man their trains with adequate crews.

While commending the legislature of 1911 for passing the act permitting cities and towns to adopt the commission form of government, the governor urged a fuller extension of the system.

"The path of reform in that field,"
he added, "is unquestionably the path of greater freedom. The question of municipal government is perhaps the most serious question concerning the organization of methods of government that our country has as a nation. I covet for New Jersey the honor of showing the way of liberty and self-respecting reorganization."

"The farmer has not been served as he might be," continues the governor.
"We have set up and subsidized agricultural schools, horticultural schools, schools of poultry breeding, and the rest, and they have done excellent work. But a more effective way will be found by which the farmer can be served. Lectures and schools and experimental farms attached to schools like laboratories are excellent,
but they can not of themselves push their work home. Some states have gone much beyond this and we should follow them with zest."

On the question of economy, Governor Wilson says: "The business of the state is conducted with a wastefulness, a duplication of effort, confusion and conflict of function which no business enterprise could survive for six months. There is an extraordinary multiplicity of boards, commissions, departments and miscellaneous offices, overlapping, connected without being co-ordinated, independent of one another and yet naturally belonging to a single systematic whole, which ought to be drawn together, simplified, brought into proper relations, pruned, and put upon a footing of economy and quick responsibility. We are wasting the public monies and are not getting the results which good business methods would get."

The governor dwells at length on
"the need and demand" for a consti-

WOULD INCREASE THE
LENGTH OF THE TERM
OF THE PRESIDENTSBill Introduced to Make Tenure of Office Six Years Instead of Four As Now.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 14.—When Senator Cummins tried today to have the senate fix a day for voting on the resolution for an amendment of the constitution of office to one term of six years, Senator Root objected declaring that there had not been sufficient consideration. The measure is the unfinished business for the calendar and Senator Cummins gave notice that he would keep it before the senate daily until acted upon.

The Cullup amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill annulling executive orders which placed assistant postmasters and clerks of first and second class offices and postmasters of the fourth class under civil service,
was rejected by the house today 141 to 166. An amendment to withhold per diem pay to postoffice inspectors investigating candidates for fourth class offices was adopted.

Senator Root today introduced the bill to amend the Panama canal act
to eliminate the provision exempting American coastwise ships from the payment of tolls. The bill is expected to reopen the entire question of Panama tolls now at issue with Great Britain and to pave the way for a new discussion of the subject in the senate.

This country never can have a sound monetary system without a central bank," asserted Fergus G.
Wade of St. Louis, a member of the banking and currency committee of the American Bankers Association today before the house currency reform committee. Mr. Wade said the so-called Aldrich plan proposed the best system which had come under his observation.

tion of William B. Hurlbut for chairlowing of the house bears out the recent prognostication. R. J. Nye, as sition he held two years ago. Both houses adjourned until ten o'clock to-leged Breach of Contract.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

$10,000 was filed today with Judge Merrill in probate court against the estate of Michael McQuade for breach of contract which it is alleged was made with Rose Dilger, to leave all his property to her when he died.
Miss Dilger lived with the old gentleman for a number of years and it is said he agreed to give the property
to her if he were allowed to raise her.
He had no other heirs and died without making a will. The estate is now in the hands of public administrator.
Mr. McQuade was a resident of Green Bay for many years.

children and twenty-six instructors

TAKE JACK JOHNSON
BEFORE HE CROSSES
CANADIAN BOUNDARYNegro Pugilist Stopped by Government Officers When He Attempts to Leave States in Violation of Bail Bond.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 14.—Jack Johnson the negro pugilist, was taken from a Canada bound Grand Trunk train here today by local officers at the request of federal officials in Chicago. It is feared that Johnson was attempting to jump his bail bonds and leave the United States, the offense under the Mann law charged against him not being extraditable.

Johnson was accompanied by his wife and two negro friends. According to the local officers he admitted that he was on his way to Toronto.
The pugilist is being detained at the home of a negro friend.

Johnson is said to have at first insisted that the local authorities had no right to detain him but when a patrol wagon came in sight he left the train
without further complaint.

He said he did not wish to violate any of the terms of the bond insuring his appearance in United States district court and simply intended to go to Toronto to consult with Tom Flannigan, his former manager, regarding a proposed fight with Al Palzer in Paris. He claimed that the latter's manager had offered to arrange a fight for $25,000.

Under $30,000 Bond.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—It was reported here early today that Jack Johnson negro prize fighter, accompanied by his white wife and two negro friends
was on a train bound for Toronto.
Canada. Johnson is under $30,000 bond to appear in the United States district court to answer to indictments charging violations of the Mann act. The pugilist's bond was supposed to keep him within the states until his trial.

Johnson is said to have told friends
that he intended taking a trip to Toronto for a couple of days. Johnson announced some time ago that he had received offers to fight in Russia and the opinion was ventured that he may be intending to sail via Halifax.
United States Marshal Hoy said he had no authority to stop Johnson even if he is on his way to Canada. No one could be aroused by telephone at the Johnson home early today.

No Thought to Escape.
Johnson called Supt. De Woody by long distance telephone and explained that he had no intention of staying in Canada or making an extended trip.
He said he had no thought of violating the federal laws or attempting to forfeit his $30,000 bond.

Besides the Mann act charges, Johnson is accused of smuggling jewelry into this country from Europe for his former white wife, Mrs. Etta Duryea Johnson, who committed suicide a few months ago.

Judge Carpenter, however, declined to issue the warrant when Attorney Bachrach who appeared for Johnson said he would produce his client in court tomorrow morning.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 14.—Relief work among the flood sufferers along the Ohio river continued today under direction of the municipality and a business association. A tug with two launches started out again today with provisions for hundreds of persons and will visit the marooned inhabitants below this city going as far down the river as the site of the new government dam, five miles below
Henderson, Ky.

The worst danger exists in the lower river bottoms where severely flooded families live in stilted houses

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT
REASSEMBLES AFTER RECESS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 14.—Confronted with a heavy legislative calendar that is calculated to keep its members busy for many weeks to come, the Dominion Parliament reassembled today after the holiday recess. The present plan is to delay all other business until after the Naval Bill is disposed of.
How long this will take is purely a matter of conjecture. It is evident that the Opposition intends to discuss the Naval Bill at length. The government is feeling its feeling of defeat
that eventually the measure will pass without alteration in any of its essential details.

TRI-STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES ARE IN SESSION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 14.—The annual round-up of the tri-state agricultural societies, which began in this city today, has attracted a large attendance

al scientists from all sections of Minnesota and the Dakotas. The proceedings will continue until the end of the week. Foremost on the program is the annual convention of the Tri-State
Grain and Stock Growers' Association,

addition, annual meetings will be held by the state organizations of dairymen, corn growers, horticulturists and

Baton Rouge, La., Jan. 14.—Representatives of the several railroads doing business in Louisiana filed their objections to establishing a block system with the State Railroad Commission today. While the objections will be considered it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that the railroads
will be ordered to spend several millions of dollars in providing equipment which will better protect the lives of passengers. The ruling of the commission is the direct outcome of the recent wreck at Montz, La., in which fifteen passengers were killed.

DEMOCRATS PROMISE
SUPPORT TO WILSONDemocratic Leaders of Senate Declare
United Majority Will Support
Incoming President.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Jan. 14.—President-elect Wilson's declaration at Trenton yesterday that he would "pick only progressives" for the work of the new administration, brought from democratic leaders of the senate today statements that the new president would have the support of a united democratic majority in the senate when he began his presidential term.

Efforts to unite the democrats with the control virtually given to the progressives have been so far so successful that leaders predict there will be no open breaks in the organization of the new senate. The re-organization element will, it is understood, yield the chairmanship of committees to the rank, but will insist upon a full voice in the control of each committee and in the selection of its members.

Senators Martin and Hoke Smith
—recognized as the leaders of the democratic forces in the senate—both refused to see in the remarks of the president-elect any especial reference to the situation in the senate, and both predicted a harmonious settlement of all differences in that body.

He also told of selling a copy of a

Winkfield said he received one-third.
Winkfield could not recall the contents of the two letters or the tele-

FOR A MOMENT

Cutterin'.
I love to take the old gray mare and zip across the snow.
I love to see her light right out as tight as she can go.
When I can take the milliner, think it's simply grand.
For I'm an expert driver and kiu drive with one hand.
I don't care for the automobile, though some folks think it's neat.
For then a feller's got to drive with both his hands and feet.

I love to hear the sleighbells ring and hear the runners squeak.
The fine crisp air, it makes a man ambitious, so to speak.
I love to see the frost and snow abangin' on the trees.
And feel the tart of winter in the keen and biting breeze.
The mercury can't go too low for cutterin', you see.
For then the village milliner she cuds dies up to me.

The feathers in her bunnet, gosh, they brush agin' my nose.
It is enough to make a man git recidless and propose.
She always fatters me a lot when I'm out in my sleigh.
But when I'm just a-walkin' round, she looks the other way.
I guess I'll never marry her. There'll be no wedding chimcs.
Bekuz, you see, it's just like this: She's turned me down five times.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.
Some fellers so weak kneed that their legs look like letter X.
Elmer Jones was down to the city the other day. He paused for a second to turn and look at a young woman and was hit by seven automobiles at the same time.
Lem Higgins asked Doc Hanks what he was treatin' Anse 'Risky for and Doc said he was treatin' Anse for $25.

Doc Peters couldn't sleep and he went to a doctor and took treatment for insomnia and now he sleeps so sound that the people in his neighborhood have entered complaint that they can't hear the 6 o'clock whistle blow in the morning.

Every feller owns the best automobile in the world.
Man descended from the monkey, but some of 'em haven't descended very far.

Hank Tumms says Doc Hanks is the greatest doctor in the world. Doc told Hank's wife that she would have to keep her mouth shut and breathe through her nose.

Grandma Perkins, who has been very low the past two months, is engaged in shinglin' the fire engine house at this writing. A woman from down to the city saw the sign, "Wide Awake House Company," over the door of the engine house the other day and went in and tried to buy a pair of stockings. All the rubes don't live in the small towns.

There is so much sparkin' going on in this man's town at this writing that the insurance companies are threatening to raise the rates, as they think property here is a poor risk. It is rumored in polite society circles there were so many couples at Deacon Stubb's house that the youngest Miss Stubb and her steady had to sit on the pianer.

Satisfied.
The fellers all kin go and fly and joy ride round about the sky.
But I've got no ambition.
I'd rather stay right on the ground where I am fairly safe and sound.
And stay in good condition.

They all kin fly as swift as darts.
I'd rather keep all my parts.
And keep 'em all assembled.
I've never been up in the air.
Or even climbed upon a chair.
But what I've shook and trembled.

Them racin' auto cars, by gee,
May fill some feller full of glee.
But now, if you should ask it,
I'd rather watch 'em where'er I roam.
Then scorch and then be carried home.
Within a bushel basket.

I can't say even that I dote.
Upon the frisky motor boat.
I've no idea of rowing.
My gay career by busting all
Speed records that they have on call
And end it all by drowning.

This life to me is just one puff.
Without all of this fancy stuff,
And all the fuss and worry.
I'd rather sit and smoke my pipe
And watch my little schemes get ripe,
And let the others hurry.

COLLECTION OF TAX ON BONDS PROBLEM

City Treasurer Finds It Impracticable to Collect Income Tax From Corporation or Bondholder.

How to collect a tax on the income from bonds is the problem which is puzzling City Treasurer George G. Bluenchow, Mayor Fathers, and other city officials, and thus far they have found no solution of the quandary. According to the tax commission's interpretation of the income tax law, the tax on the income from bonds is to be collected from the corporation on whose property they are secured. On the face of it, this looks simple enough, but in many instances the corporations do not know who hold their bonds; the securities may have passed from the possession of the original holders and changed hands several times. On the other hand the city treasurer could not be expected to know who are the individual bondholders. Mayor Fathers has consulted with members of the tax commission but thus far no practicable means of collecting taxes on income from bonds has been suggested. The income of husband and wife is regarded as a unit in the assessment of income taxes. Consequently the personal property tax paid by the wife on bank stock can be offered as an offset in paying a tax on the income from such stock. The same holds true with regard to other income producing property or securities.

Now that Frank Chance has signed up with the New York Americans at a salary of $25,000, a list can be drawn up of eight prominent baseball managers, who draw a combined salary of $100,000. The list headed by Chance includes McGraw of the New York Nationals at $18,000; Mack of the Philadelphia Americans at $15,000; Jennings of Detroit, the same; Clarke of Pittsburgh, $12,000; Stahl of Boston Americans, $10,000; Griffith of Cincinnati Reds and Griffith of the Washington Americans, all $10,000. And in addition to this, Mack, Stahl and Griffith each owns stock in his club.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, Philadelphia twirler, is happy at last. He has purchased a billiard room in St. Paul, Neb., and reports a flourishing business. Alexander always liked to play billiards and it was his desire to some time get his fill of the green cloth game. Now he probably will.

"Today's fighters could knock out more men than the old-timers if they had the same strength, because of the support gloves and bandages give their hands but they haven't the hitting power," says John Lavack, featherweight fighter. "Fighters nowadays haven't the endurance the old-timers had. Training isn't as strenuous now. Youngsters enter the professional ranks before they are properly developed. Promoters do not have them train properly."

Ad Wolcott, ex-lightweight champion, says he'll never fight more than 10 rounds again. He abhors training and his performances will be six.

round battles. A little road work and boxing will keep him in shape for all the six-round bouts he can get, Ad believes.

Our cowboy friend, Mr. Luther McCarty, the heavyweight fighter of renown, ought to make quite a hit on the vaudeville stage. In addition to being a fighter he is also capable of giving a good exhibition of larrikin twirling, sharpshooting with a revolver and rifle and other wild western stunts. McCarty will soon be seen in his new role as actor, and it is said that he has engagements enough to keep him busy until July 4.

Fielder Jones, president of the Northwestern League, who has won some renown as a baseball prognosticator, states positively that Frank Chance won't make his New York Yankees a first division team in 1913. As New York finished last in 1912 Jones probably won't have a vast amount of trouble in getting some people to agree with him.

Frank Chance does not agree with that statement of Fielder Jones that the Yankees will end up in second division. The Peerless Leader doesn't say, however, that he will win the pennant this year. "I will win the pennant for you before I get through with New York," Chance has told Farrell.

Indianapolis has called upon the Detroit Tigers for further assistance. Last year, President Navin turned O'Leary, Casey and Westcott over to the Hoosiers. Now Indianapolis wants Davy Jones.

AMERICAN FARMERS LACK CO-OPERATION

Sir Horace Plunkett Points to Errors in Agricultural Marketing System—Praise for Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 14.—America's relatively low rank in agricultural production and the present high cost of living were attributed to lack of co-operation in marketing on the part of the farmers, in an address by Sir Horace Plunkett, member of the British house of commons and a world leader in agricultural co-operative movements. Sir Horace gave high praise to the plan of the Wisconsin board of public affairs providing for co-operative marketing and kindred plans or agricultural betterment, and said that other states are following his lead.

Blames The Farmers. "While I have nothing but congratulations for your desire to help the farmers," he said, "I am prompt to say that a very serious indictment can be made against the farmers of the United States for failing to embrace the opportunity for co-operation and the routing of the middleman. I don't blame the middleman, but I do blame the farmers who do not co-operate to reduce the cost of distribution. If the farmers don't combine to do things for themselves, they will continue to be supplanted by men who come in and do things for them. It is absolutely essential that the farmers at the earliest possible moment reorganize their industry along co-operative lines and be in a position to establish distributing agencies of their own."

He said that the producers of the nation need to be assisted in every possible way. Agricultural credit, which has been a wonderful success in Ireland, according to Sir Horace, who was instrumental in bringing in about, was lauded as the best possible method of extending this assistance to needy farmers.

Bills in Senate. In the senate three bills were introduced by Senator Burke of Green Bay. One reduces the hours of railway employees from sixteen to fourteen, and another provides for full freight crews (five men each), including an engineer, fireman, conductor, and two brakemen. No train shall have more than sixty cars. The third bill would allow state aid to poultry associations in the amount of 40 per cent of the total cash premiums awarded by such societies. Assemblyman Sommerfeld of Fond du Lac county will introduce a bill legalizing a merger of the Baptist and Free Will Baptist denominations and the transfer of the property into a common ownership. The bill will be introduced by request.

Tourists in Switzerland. Travelers in Switzerland average about 500,000 a year, of which number about six per cent are Americans.

DEBATING TEAMS IN PRACTICE CONTEST

Presentation of Arguments by High School Boys and Discussion by Coaches Proves Beneficial.

The affirmative and negative debating teams met yesterday afternoon at the close of school to have a tryout debate. This was their first meeting, and no decision was given. It was a close battle, however, as each team had an array of arguments which were hard to answer. The debaters rehearsed before Prof. Buell, Stowe Lovejoy and Guy Curtis.

Mr. Buell is coach of the affirmative team and Mr. Lovejoy is coaching the negative. Mr. Lovejoy is interested in his team and his arguments with Mr. Buell last night were very interesting to the members of the debating teams. Mr. Buell answered his contentions and so after the regular tryout, some strong points were discussed by the three gentlemen present.

Nothing has as yet been heard as to the program for the Beloit College Debating League but it is hoped the debaters can have at least one month yet before their first interstate debates.

Each speaker last evening received much criticism, as to delivery, argument and construction of speeches. The teams are fast improving, and with the aid of such valuable coaching, it is thought two unequalled teams will be furnished to meet their opponents and bring back to Janesville high school the title of "League Winners."

Valuable Invention. A man in East India has invented an electric pen that carbonizes the sheet of paper over which it passes.

FIRST "LITTLE FIVE" GAME PLAYED AT BELOIT TONIGHT

This will be a busy week for the basketball team of the Beloit college. Tonight they take on Lake Forest in the local gymnasium. Friday evening they play Armour Institute in Chicago, and Saturday night they play the return match with Lake Forest at Lake Forest. All of the games will be record breakers for speed, endurance and physical strain.

Lake Forest, who went down to defeat twice before the Beloiters last season, comes back this year with the same team to a man that she had last season, while half of Beloit's present outfit have not yet seen the end of their freshman year. Lake Forest has always been full of more fight than knowledge of the game, and her speed and strength will undoubtedly make a huge difference in the score. It will be the first game if the little five conference, and a royal one.

THE PUJO COMMITTEE.

The Pujio committee, appointed by congress to investigate the money trust, whatever that may be, has gained some cheap notoriety by displaying its ignorance, and has met with several rebuffs, while attempting to extort information from some of the witnesses summoned. The name of Senator John C. Spooner, was for years a household name in Wisconsin, but since he retired to engage in private practice in New York, the west has lost track of him.

It is refreshing to know that he is still on deck, and possessed of old-time vigor, as will be seen by the following opinion written for a witness summoned by the Pujio committee. When called upon to answer certain important questions, he said:

"I decline to answer the question on the advice of counsel that the committee is without jurisdiction to require the information called for upon the ground:

"That the subject matter is one in which with respect to which congress is without power to legislate, and

"That the question is an unlawful intrusion into the private affairs of a citizen under the Fourth and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

"Generally that the committee is not lawfully entitled to compel the information called for."

The Wall Street Journal, in commenting, says:

"This answer was framed by John C. Spooner, ex-United States senator, who has more law in his little finger than the entire Pujio committee on its combined bodies and brains. There have been few, if any, better constitutional lawyers in congress, and it is to Senator Spooner's everlasting honor that he left the senate poor, to practice his profession and to reap some of the rewards to which his high character and attainments entitle him.

"By the loss of Mr. Spooner the United States senate suffered a deterioration from which it has never really recovered. It has no great constitutional lawyer now, in the sense the term would be applied to such men as Senator Edmunds or Senator Spooner. But the senate at any rate is not wasting its time and the taxpayers' money in attempts to bludgeon the private citizen by threats of the power of congress. Those powers are most rightly limited by the Constitution of the United States. It seems not improbable that Samuel Undermyer is the only person on the Pujio committee who ever read the Constitution, and he is keeping that, and other information, to himself.

"In the meantime a study of that fundamental instrument may be commended to our legislators. Senator Spooner's statement of the rights of the citizen, as given here, should provide ample food for thought. If the real democratic leaders in congress know their business they will move for an appropriation to give the Pujios and Henrys and others of the same kidney some elementary night-school training in constitutional law. Apparently it was not considered a requisite in the states where these gentlemen were admitted to the bar."

The nation met with a distinctive loss in the retirement of Senator Spooner. He has long been recognized as the greatest constitutional lawyer in the country, and he is still on the job, as the Pujio committee discovered to its embarrassment.

HOW THEY DO IT.

The claim is made that every other man in Los Angeles is a real estate agent, and people who visit this enterprising western city say that it is worse than that. All sorts of methods are employed to interest prospects. The following from the Technical World magazine for February, is the latest.

"Los Angeles is known as the home of the enterprising real estate agent and probably no feat performed elsewhere in the line of selling lots has been equaled by the exploit of one of these Angelenos. He had almost convinced a prospective customer of the merits of a certain out-of-town lot, but the prospect demurred at signing a contract without seeing the property.

"It was a little too late in the afternoon to go out, and besides the company's automobile was in use, but it would never do to let the customer get away, as he might change his mind or see some other agent.

"The salesman had a big idea. A captive balloon makes frequent ascents from a lot just a few blocks from the office, rising to the end of a thousand foot cable and carrying passengers at $1.00 a trip.

"With a little urging the customer was induced to take the aerial journey, and from that altitude the agent pointed out the suburban lot, showing its exact location and the character of the surrounding property quite as clearly as if they were actually on the ground.

"Before they descended, the prospect had agreed to buy the lot and the agent did not even have to threaten to throw him overboard if he balked at the contract."

NEW YORK TO BE INVADED.

The old mail order house of Montgomery Ward & Co. is planning to open a branch in New York city, but is finding trouble to secure a satisfactory location. A New York paper says:

"Montgomery Ward & Co. of Chicago and Kansas City, one of the two largest mail order houses in the country, is planning to establish a branch in New York. For several days past, officers of the company have been in this city looking for a desirable location.

"So far as can be learned, they have not yet succeeded in finding just the site they want, but it is expected that they will do so soon. Several locations are now under consideration. The requisites for such a site are accessibility to the trunk line railroads as well as nearness to the water front, as the company's policy is not to spend any money for trucking, considering it a useless waste.

"Another point that has to be considered is the accessibility of the plant to the employees. About one-third of the 5,000 employees of the Chicago house and also of the 2,000 of the Kansas City branch are women, and the requirements of the company are that they, as well as the majority of the men, shall be high school graduates, or at least have passed high school entrance examinations. Being thus higher grade workers than the ordinary factory hands or manual laborers, it is said that they cannot be induced to work in an undesirable environment or a section of the city that can be reached only through the slum districts.

"The company's establishment in Chicago has facilities for loading 45 freight cars at once and the loading frequently runs as high as 100 cars a day. These cars must be started for their various destinations as fast as they are loaded, not only to expedite deliveries, but to make room for other loadings."

Strange as it may seem, New York has never had a large mail order house.

RECITAL OF REEDS A MUSICAL TRIUMPH

Artists Who Appeared Last Evening Under Auspices of Apollo Club Showed Wonderful Talent.

John T. Reed and his wife, Lillian French Reed, sang before the Apollo Club last evening in a beautifully selected program. This was Mrs. Reed's first appearance here and that in itself was sufficient guarantee that the evening would prove a notable one. Her voice is of exquisite quality and her artistic singing and musicianship are a constant delight to her audience. She is at her best in the lyric numbers like Schubert's "To Be Sung on the Waters" and "Villanelle" by De'Aquila, rather than those of more dramatic quality.

Mr. Reed showed himself in every way worthy in his part of the program. His voice possesses great nobility and is moreover exceedingly even throughout, which is unusual in a bass. He sang such numbers as "At Midnight" by Busch and "Remembrance" by Ashley with deep feeling and gave a superb rendition of "The Search" and "Invictus."

Mr. and Mrs. Reed also presented several duets admirably with the possible exception of the first and this was another triumph for duets are usually dismal affairs, due to the composers perhaps, but Mr. and Mrs. Reed everywhere showed unerring taste and discrimination in making up their program.

Not the least part of the pleasure of the evening was the able part taken by Mr. Kurt Wanleck. He is by far the best accompanist we have had here this season. He also added two piano solos to the program, a Nocturne by Grieg played with delicacy and feeling and a Liszt Nocturne given with accuracy and dazzling brilliancy. The audience rewarded him with warmth and enthusiasm.

During the evening programs for the concert to be given February third were circulated. This will be presented by selected men from the Thomas Orchestra and will, without question, prove the most enjoyable concert ever given by the Apollo Club which, if one stops to consider it is a statement of some significance.

STATES COMPETITION

WAS NOT ELIMINATED

Manager of Webb Fire Apparatus in Letter to Mayor, Declares That Specifications Were Fair.

"Specifications submitted by your city are broad and can be complied with by any practical fire apparatus builder," says O. T. Dooley, manager of the Webb Company of Allentown, Penn., in a letter to Mayor Peple commenting on the charge of one bidder that the power requirements in the fire apparatus specifications drawn up by the city were so severe that competition was practically eliminated. Although an examination of the twelve specifications submitted by bidders showed that the charge was wholly unfounded, the comments of Mr. Dooley on the charge are worth noting. The Webb Company's bid was $5,750, the third highest submitted.

"We rarely found," he writes "that small motors and inadequate horse power were out of the question in fire service, and the failures that have been made, and that rest upon all practical fire apparatus builders, have been made by the inexperienced people with small motors. I can cite you instances where cities have decided to install motor apparatus where some inexperienced builder had gotten in and made a failure in demonstrating over muddy streets or hills, causing these cities to decide against motor apparatus; yet I do not know of any of the practical fire apparatus builders that would dare to make the claim that they could furnish a 41-horsepower motor that would perform satisfactory work."

"There is all the difference in the world between the service of the pleasure car, or the light commercial vehicle, and the fire apparatus. The theory of motor apparatus is quick, snappy, powerful work with large overload capacity, because you can never tell the time when this wagon will be piled up with extra hose, possibly a dozen extra men for a long run, or worse than all, to be confronted with a heavy fall of snow on your steep hills."

The council has not yet completed its examination of motor fire apparatus specifications but will probably be ready to let the bid within a very short time.

WILL NOT PROTEST

INCREASE OF RATE

Janesville Assembly Will Probably Not Follow Action of Insurgent Members of Order.

"The Janesville Assembly of the Equitable Fraternal Union will make no protest as such against the new rates to be paid by members over sixty years of age," said Edward O. Smith, secretary of the assembly to a Gazette reporter this afternoon when informed that the Deloit assembly had elected delegates to a meeting of insurgent assemblies where the raise was to be discussed.

The new requirement that members over sixty years of age must pay $5 a month on each thousand of insurance is the result of the enactment of the so-called Mobile law.

Mr. Smith. "This law prescribes that all fraternal insurance must come up to a certain standard by 1915. Although the E. F. U. is in an excellent condition and able to pay its death losses for many years to come, the supreme assembly, after consultation with the insurance commission, saw fit to comply with the law at this time. Members under sixty years of age are given the option of exchanging their present policies for any one of six different forms but may retain their present policies. All new members must pay the new rates. The supreme assembly has set aside $250,000 out of a reserve of $1,500,000 for the benefit of the members over sixty years old. Those who do not wish to pay the new rates may accept a paid up policy. This, in many instances, amounts to more than was paid in. One Janesville member recently took advantage of this privilege. Although he had paid in only $400 he received a paid up policy of $231.

The E. F. U. will hold a public installation of its new officers on the evening of Wednesday, January 22, at which either President E. A. Williams or Secretary Merrill L. Campbell is expected to be present and explain the new rates. The installation will be followed by a dance.

Lewis Sperry Claims to Have Been Attacked by Three Boys Saturday Night—Suspect Arrested. That he was beaten unconscious by three young men and boys who attacked him on Main Street Saturday night, is the story of Lewis Sperry, a laborer residing at 462 North Main Street. Sperry has made a complaint of assault and battery against John Keating, whom he believes to be one of those who attacked him. Keating, who is very much younger than Sperry, and of smaller stature, came to the police station of his own accord this morning when he learned that the police were searching for him. He plead "not guilty" to the charge against him when arraigned in the municipal court, and at the request of Frank Esker, counsel for the complainant, his trial was set for next Tuesday, January 22. W. J. Keating, father of the accused boy, agreed to insure his appearance for trial. One hundred dollars bail was demanded. The police hope to apprehend all the assailants of Sperry within a few days. Sperry wore a large bandage over his right eye when he appeared in court this morning.

To Help in Hanging Pictures.

Cut a groove in the end of a curtain pole, place the end of the picture wire in it, and hoist it up to the nail or hook from which it is to hang. This saves climbing up and down and also allows one to see more clearly how the picture is going to look.

Explanation of Sun's Heat.

The reason why the sun retains its heat despite the large amount it gives out is explained by the fact that heat is generated by the fall of particles toward its center.

PLEASING CONCERT GIVEN AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Otterbein Male Quartet and Bell Ringers Gave Delightful Program Last Evening. A most pleasing entertainment of its kind was the concert program given at the First Baptist church last evening by the Otterbein male quartet and bell ringers, the entertainment being one of the numbers of the lecture course given by the King's Daughters. The young men who compose the quartet are possessed of very pleasing voices and their quartet numbers were especially delightful. The musical numbers with the use of the bells were also very good, and a variety in the program was furnished with humorous stories and little impersonations.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

Money Complacency

SOME people do make me unusually weary," said Phoebe, as she entered the studio. "You are suffering from the usual after-the-holiday feeling. That's all the matter with you," rejoined Marjorie. "No, it isn't," retorted Phoebe. "I always have this feeling after I've been to see Grace Barnett."

"Why go to see her, then?" inquired Elizabeth. Phoebe laughed. "It is a foolish proceeding. But social conventions demand that, once so often, I call upon her and deposit a small white card bearing my name, in her card basket, and so I do it. But I always come away irritated."

"What's the matter?" "She's so terribly self-satisfied and superior just because she's got a lot of money. And she never earned a cent of it and never could. She hasn't ability enough to earn five cents a week. And yet because she's got a big bank account that somebody else gathered for her, she thinks she's superior to most people."

"How did she get her money?" "Her father, I believe, bought some stock or something of the kind years ago, and it advanced wonderfully in value. And so she puts rings on her fingers and silks on her body and sits complacently around and considers herself superior to everybody else. The way she treats salespeople just makes me boil. Any one of them is worth her a dozen times over. Yet you might think they were the dust beneath her feet."

"Don't worry yourself into such a state over it, Phoebe," said Prue. "It is foolish," laughed Phoebe. "But I do hate to see any one supposed to have brains making such a poor use of them. Her case is hopeless, though. I guess. Even if she lost her money, and really had to try to earn her living, all she would do, I think, would be to exclaim and bewail that she should have been brought to this condition."

"I wonder what a person like that would be in their next incarnation, if reincarnation really were true?" "Amoeba, I guess," laughed Phoebe. "She is about as near to nothing now as anything I know."

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

TASTES AND INCOMES.

A MOST extraordinary letter came to me the other day. A woman wrote to ask me to tell her how to spend money. She is a working woman between thirty and forty years old. She is making a little over $20 a week.

She has been self-supporting for many years, and during the first part of this time she had to save and scrimp and deny herself so stringently that now when she is earning a comfortable sum and could dress decently and have a few luxuries, she actually doesn't know how to spend her money. Her income has increased more rapidly than her tastes and she wants my advice as to how to spend money like other people.

Was ever anything more exactly contrary to the ordinary conditions of affairs than this? For every man or woman whose income has increased more rapidly than his or her tastes, I wonder how many there are in this country whose tastes have increased more rapidly than their incomes. Ten thousand would probably be putting it low.

Isn't it, indeed, one of the greatest causes of unhappiness and envy, of extravagance and discontent, in this country, that so many of us have gotten the habit of allowing our tastes to race with our incomes and usually win out.

Let me take a typical case for example. Six years ago Margaret, a young stenographer, was earning $10 a week, and finding it as ample for her needs as we ever find any sum. At this time she thought $20 a good price to pay for a suit. Four dollars for shoes, $5 for a hat, a dollar or two for a blouse to wear to work, was her ordinary outlay. Once or twice a month she indulged in the extravagance of a 25 cent manicure, but she shampooed her own hair and looked upon facial massage as the exclusive property of the ladies in the society columns. One of her greatest extravagances was to pay ten cents for a cake of toilet soap and 25 cents for a good cream. In the summer she took her vacation at a small summer resort where she paid $10 a week for board. I believe she saved $1 a week.

Today that girl is earning $22 and constantly crying poverty. Where does it all go to? Well, let's see.

Her last winter's suit cost $45. It was marked down from $60. She had meant to have her last year's hat trimmed over, but the suit made it look so shabby that she bought a new one for $15. For her shoes she pays $5 and $6. Her simplest blouse is a special tailored model for $3. She has a 50 cent manicure every week. She has her hair shampooed and indulges in facial massage now and then. She uses an ultra special toilet soap for which she pays 25 cents, and an imported cream for 30 cents.

When she goes away in the summer she stays at a hotel, paying $25 a week for a tiny attic room. I don't think she saves at all.

Now do you wonder that the $22 disappears faster than the $10 did? The class in this country that has enough and can save, is the thrifty lower middle class in which the tastes and standards haven't yet begun to skyrocket. Many a man earning $22 a week, and having a family of five or six, is putting by a tidy sum.

Are your tastes growing more rapidly than your income? If they are, look out. Happiness does not lie that way.

Breathe Easy!

Don't go through life suffering from catarrh. Here's a simple, pleasant, reliable, Kordon's Catarrhal Jelly, the most effective remedy for all catarrhal diseases, clears the nasal passages, soothes the inflamed surfaces and heals the raw places. Makes natural breathing easy. Get it from any drug store or sample free.

Ventilation. When buying window shades get an extra set of catches. Put one set at the usual place, the other about a foot lower. On cold weather hang the shades on the lower catches and leave the window down from the top. This gives perfect ventilation and prevents the shade from blowing about.

Daily Thought. Enthusiasm is the genius of sincerity, and truth accomplishes no victories without it.—E. Bulwer Lytton.

Musterole--Clean, White Mustard Ointment

—Takes the place of the old-time Mustard Plaster. Brings the same quick and delicious relief. And does not raise a single blister.

You get this clean, white ointment out of a clean, white glass jar. You bago. Pains and Aches of the back or simply rub it on—and the pain is gone! No mess. You don't have to make a plaster, or bother with a cloth.

Wherever people try MUSTEROLE once, they insist on it all ways. Everywhere MUSTEROLE has been introduced the demand grows amazingly. Millions of jars are used annually. Doctors and Nurses use it and recommend it—ask your doctor. MUSTEROLE is a staple remedy in large hospitals.

The Kitchen Cabinet

TODAY we may feel that life's sorrows outweigh all the joys that we crave; But tomorrow will teach us the lesson That life is worth while to be brave.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Here is one way of preparing hamburger steak: Take a pound of round steak finely chopped, not ground, add two tablespoons of suet, a finely chopped onion, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, a quarter of a cup of bread crumbs and salt and pepper to taste. Shape in balls, roll in crumbs and broil before a clear fire or pan broil until brown. Serve with the sauce from the pan and garnish with parsley.

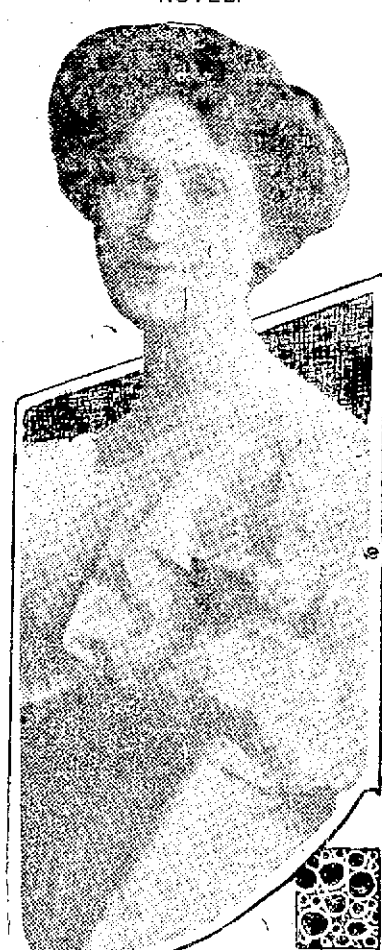

Curried Mutton.—Cut up a pound of mutton and fry in butter until brown; add the onions, stir and cook until they are colored yellow; add a dessert spoonful of curry powder, salt and pepper to taste, two cups of stock and simmer for an hour. Serve with a border of boiled rice.

A delicious small cake which is relished by young or old is a simple cup cake mixture baked in gem pans and frosted with a white boiled frosting. When cold, a circular piece is cut from the top and a portion of the inside of the cake is removed and the cavity filled with preserved fruit of any kind desired.

Deviled Sardines.—Bone and skin a dozen sardines, dust with paprika and mustard, and dip in beaten egg and fine bread crumbs and brown in a hot buttered pan. Drain and serve on strips of buttered toast. Garnish with lemon slices and water cress.

Vanities.—Beat three eggs, add a tablespoonful of sugar, one of cold water and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Stir in flour to make a rather stiff dough. Knead well and roll out after dividing the dough into four portions. Roll a portion until very thin, the thinner the better, then tear a piece half the size of the hand (the more irregular the prettier they are), and drop it deep fat. When brown sift powdered sugar over them. They will be filled with bubbles and are very dainty little cakes.

Nellie Maxwell. DIPLOMAT'S WIFE PUBLISHES NOVEL.

Mrs. Post Wheeler, wife of the first secretary of the American embassy at Rome, has just published another novel, "The Vulgarians of Virginia." One of her former works, "The Castaways," an account of Lord Byron's life, describing scenes in Italy and Greece, where he spent the later years of his life, will shortly be translated into Italian.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler recently returned to Rome after a two month's tour of Italy, Switzerland, France and England.

Longevity Not Proved. A collector of records of centenarianism reports that the recent death of an Italian peasant woman at the age of 183. He mentions two other centenarians who have exceeded the age of the noted Tom Parr, who died at 152; one of these, Thomas Cam, is credited with 207 years, and the other, William Edwards, with 163 years. All these cases of extreme longevity are to be marked with an interrogation point, for parish registers are sometimes altered and tombstones tampered with.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two young foolish, simply crazy girls. (1)—One of us is dark complexion. What would be stylish for a new gown for her? (2)—The other is light complexion. What complexion should her fiancé possess to preserve perfect harmony? (3)—One of us wants to know what to expect from "Willie." At first he seemed so very attentive, but now it is "he loves me not." Will he ever come back? (4)—A gentleman at loose wants to learn to make fancywork. Will he ever overcome his awkwardness with the needle? Should we praise him upon his slow progress? This is what he expects.

(5)—Is a girl of 17 supposed to have steady company? How late can she spoon with her beau? (6)—What is good for corns? (7)—What will cure freckles? (8)—Is there any hope for a "guy" with a big appetite? What kind of a wife should he choose? DIPPY DOPE.

I quite agree with you, my dears, since reading your letter. (1)—Get a gown to match the hair. (2)—Anything something ought to preserve harmony. (3)—Willie probably won't. There are lots like him. (4)—"Practice makes perfect." Certainly—praise him, if he likes it. You'd probably play baseball as gracefully as he does fancywork.

(5)—No, if she's sensible she won't spoon at all. (6)—Comfortable shoes. (7)—Butter milk. (8)—No, he should marry the cook.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am 19 years old and very pretty. Am in love with a fellow of 27. He took me out several times then suddenly quit. I love him dearly and could not live without him, but he does not know of my love. Shall I tell him? (2)—Shall I ask him to call on me again? (3)—I haven't seen him for three weeks and am pining away with grief. If he does not come to see me how can I forget him? (4)—Give me a remedy for biting finger nails. (5)—Are my writing and spelling good?

RUTH. (1)—Perhaps he is just tired of you. A good many men will take a girl out a few times, then they've had enough and drop the girl for another. You will be able to live very well without him, my dear, and for goodness' sake don't cheapen yourself by telling him you love him. You really don't you know. You've just made yourself think so. (2)—If you shall happen to see him again, tell him he's become quite a stranger, but that you'll be pleased to see him if he cares to drop around any evening.

(3)—Haven't you any work to do, any good books to read, any good friends to consider and talk to? Can't you do something nice for somebody? Keep busy and have too much pride to be "moneys" over a man who probably doesn't give you a second thought and is this minute having a good time with some other girl. (4)—Put bitter aloes on the tins; when you taste it, this will remind you to stop biting them. (5)—Your spelling is good, but your writing can be improved, my dear.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The Housewife. Home-Made Rag Rugs.—Save all the old silk ribbons, pieces of silk, satin, velvet and woolen—all colors. Cut in strips one-half to one inch wide and two or three inches in length. Now get your foundation; cut and hem the size you wish—old rag carpet or burlap will do. Proceed to sew strips on foundation in rows. Stitch on the machine. Sew through center of strips. When you get the first row stitched, turn the edges back out of your way and proceed with another row. Trim uneven edges, leaving a lumpy surface.

Here is an idea which I think will help all women who use a clothes wringer. So many times, especially in the middle of a large piece of clothing, the wringer will let go from the tub. By simply placing a small piece of wood, or even heavy pasteboard, between clamp of wringer and tub you will not only be saved annoyance, but the wear of the thread on the clamp.

The Table. Filled Noodles.—Make dough as for noodles; roll out and cut into large squares. Take half a pound of fresh pork sausage, take out of skins, put in one egg, parsley and two-buns or bread to that amount. Put small amount of the filling (one tablespoon) into each square, fold up dough and boil in good broth until they rise to the top. Serve hot with the broth.

Cabbage Rolls. (A very good dish.)—Mix together: one pound lean raw beef chopped, salt and pepper to taste, one small onion chopped. Soak half cup parboiled rice—one egg, seven or eight minutes to make them water a few minutes to make them less brittle. Roll a portion of the meat mixture in each leaf and roll securely. Place them in kettle with water to cover, adding two tablespoon molasses, two teaspoons baking soda until cabbage is tender. Graham pancakes. (A tested recipe)

One and one-half cups graham flour, 1-1/2 cups wheat flour, one small tablespoon molasses, two teaspoons baking powder, a little salt, 1-1/2 cups of milk.

The Earache. Take a can or any vessel that fits closely around the ear and put a little hot water in it; then have the sufferer hold the ear closely over the can. The steam gives almost instant relief.

It is well to wrap a cloth around the top of can, thus preventing the escape of steam into the hair.

When relief is given, dry the ear and drop one drop of sweet oil into it. The sweet oil is not absolutely necessary, yet I think it is soothing and healing to the inflamed ear.

I hope others who have need of such a remedy will try this. It has served me so well with the children.

Cut the Cost of Living!

A plate of hot biscuits or muffins, a fresh, home-baked cake, a loaf of brown or nut-bread, rescues any meal from the commonplace, and more expensive things are never missed.

With K C, the double acting baking powder, good results are doubly certain. There's economy too, in the cost of K C.

PRETTY FROCK OF LIBERTY SATIN

Amber-colored liberty satin is used to make this pretty frock. The draped skirt is trimmed down the center of the front with a panel of lace which ends under the drape at the lower part. The skirt is slashed at the side of the back and a narrow panel of lace is drawn through the slash. The skirt is trimmed at the bottom of the right side with lace. The corsage is trimmed with a panel of lace on the right side, and is corded on the left. It is made with a long shoulder which is corded on the edge. The sleeve is quite full and is joined to the arm hole under the cord. The collar is of the heavy cord lace and the girdle is made out of crepe meter.

SPECIAL CARE REQUIRED IN FASTING.

I have advised fasting, especially in spring, as better than the "spring medicine" remedy, but cautioned against fasting indiscriminately, and have especially suggested the importance of proper surroundings during a fast. Several good books have been published on fasting, but the average reader who will follow the directions of any one who has had only his own experience, which happened to be fortunate, will be as likely to err as if he bought a book on medicine or surgery and tried to treat himself. The enthusiast does not think about the many cases of serious injury from fasting—while some newspapers in reporting these, fail to remind the reader that the fact that some fasts are fatal no more argues against proper fasting than death following a surgical operation argues against scientific surgery.

The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home

COMES Little and Acts Quickly. Money Refunded if It Fails.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup, and saves you about $2.00 compared with ordinary cough remedies. It stops obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, croup, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 25 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes Good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this respect, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe. This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggists, Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Resinol will stop that itch

Healing begins that very minute, and your skin gets well so quickly you feel ashamed of the money you threw away on useless, tedious treatments. Prescribed by doctors for 18 years.

You can try Resinol free, for skin eruptions, pimples, dandruff, stubborn sores, boils, or piles. Sold by all druggists, but for trial, write to Dept. 19-B, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md.

Brooklyn, N.Y., Nov. 1, 1912.—"About that itching. At first little red spots were seen on my arms and body, which I noticed were getting larger every day. They itched me so much that I scratched myself until I bled. There were times when I stood up all night and scratched. I was troubled about three weeks, during which time I used many different remedies, but none did me any good whatever. Then, finally, I thought of trying Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. As soon as I applied Resinol Ointment I felt much relief. After using it a few times, I noticed the sore spots slowly fading away, and in about a month I was cured completely." HANDS ITCHED AND BURNED

So Sore Could Not Close Them. Started With Rash, Just Terrible, Broke Into Sores, Could Not Sleep, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Him Entirely.

Abbott, Wis.—"My son had eczema on his hands for about one year. The eczema started with a rash. His hands were sore so he could not close them, and when he wet his hands they hurt him so he could hardly wash. His hands itched and burned just terrible and if he would scratch them, they would break out into sores. He could not get any rest or sleep, and his hands looked quite bad."

"We had medicine and salve and it kept getting worse all the time. I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after washing his hands with the Cuticura Soap and putting some of the Cuticura Ointment on two times a day and tying cloths on them for about six months they got well and have not broken out since. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured him entirely."

(Signed) Mrs. Lawrence Kitch, Feb. 13, 1912.

Not only are Cuticura Soap and Ointment most valuable in the treatment of eczema and other distressing eruptions of skin and scalp, but no other condition do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough and oily skin, itching, scaly scalp, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapeless nails, nor do it so economically. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Benjamin H. Bissing, the former Janesville manager of the Wear-U-Well Shoe Company, who made an alleged attempt to shoot his wife at the family home in Appleton, last Friday morning was arraigned before Judge Ryan in the municipal court there Saturday morning and entered a plea of "not-guilty" to a charge of assault with intent to kill. Bissing was unable to furnish the $5,000 bail demanded by the court, and will await his trial, set for next Friday morning, in the county jail. The penalty following conviction on the charge preferred against Bissing ranges from one to fifteen years in the state's prison at Waupun.

When arraigned last Saturday morning Mr. Bissing evidently realized the consequences of his offense and was visibly affected when the court read the information on which he was arrested. It was with difficulty that he suppressed the tears that welled to his eyes, and he had nothing to say except that he was not guilty.

According to official information Mr. Bissing was not under the influence of liquor when he made four unsuccessful efforts to kill his wife, who had threatened divorce proceedings, but after escaping from the scene of the shooting he managed to acquire sufficient liquor to make him recklessly drunk in which condition he was found when apprehended at Waverly beach by Detective Michael Garvey.

The one bullet that was discharged from one revolver in Bissing's hand lodged in the ceiling just above an inside door after having passed through a mirror worn by his son, Franklin Bissing, who wrestled with his father and prevented him from carrying out his apparently murderous purpose.

BENJAMIN BISSING IS HELD FOR TRIAL ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Former Janesville Shoe Salesman Charged With Making Assault On Wife With Intent To Kill.

Benjamin H. Bissing, the former Janesville manager of the Wear-U-Well Shoe Company, who made an alleged attempt to shoot his wife at the family home in Appleton, last Friday morning was arraigned before Judge Ryan in the municipal court there Saturday morning and entered a plea of "not-guilty" to a charge of assault with intent to kill. Bissing was unable to furnish the $5,000 bail demanded by the court, and will await his trial, set for next Friday morning, in the county jail. The penalty following conviction on the charge preferred against Bissing ranges from one to fifteen years in the state's prison at Waupun.

When arraigned last Saturday morning Mr. Bissing evidently realized the consequences of his offense and was visibly affected when the court read the information on which he was arrested. It was with difficulty that he suppressed the tears that welled to his eyes, and he had nothing to say except that he was not guilty.

According to official information Mr. Bissing was not under the influence of liquor when he made four unsuccessful efforts to kill his wife, who had threatened divorce proceedings, but after escaping from the scene of the shooting he managed to acquire sufficient liquor to make him recklessly drunk in which condition he was found when apprehended at Waverly beach by Detective Michael Garvey.

The one bullet that was discharged from one revolver in Bissing's hand lodged in the ceiling just above an inside door after having passed through a mirror worn by his son, Franklin Bissing, who wrestled with his father and prevented him from carrying out his apparently murderous purpose.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams BY WALT MASON

This brave New Year, before it ends, will bring us heaps of good, my friends, if we should prove deserving, if nobly, cheerfully we pack our burdens on the narrow NEW track, and from it do no YEAR, swerving. The year may bring us gold or fame if we like sportsmen play the game, and do our errands fairly; we'll find much joyance every day, and there'll be roses on the way, as we go forward bravely. If we expect the year to bring us precious gifts, and every-thing, methinks our hopes are heavy; this year will bring us what we earn for years, like other creatures, spurn the trifling, and the lazy. The best that new years' eve advance to any man is just a chance—that's all that men should wish for; and if they let the chance go by they lose the oysters and the pie, and everything they fish for. Go forth and work with eager heart, nor loaf around the village mart with loaf and fierce complaining; do everything that should be done while shines the good old cheer-ful sun, and rest when it is raining. It's work that makes the new year's bring of blessings quite a princely thing; of prizes, of honors, go forth and work and make a splurge, nor wait a pessimistic dirge in fifty tearwet stanzas.

SUEWALK SKETCHES.

FEET.
(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE feet are two uneasy attachments to the human body which most people would be glad to substitute for something else. Nearly everybody is afflicted with more or less feet, which throb in unison whenever stepped upon on in the street car. There are several patterns of feet, ranging from the low, rakish country girl type to the square, virulent model of the field hand, some of which are more virulent than others. The society foot is a special design, and has very little work to do except when climbing in and out of a limousine.

The male foot is the largest specimen in existence and is subject to a nervous spell, caused by tight lacing. No man ever buys a shoe within three basils of his natural size, and this causes the feet to alter under the strain of the shoe.

It is not for the pride of man there wouldn't be a shoe sold in this country smaller than a No. 10 on an E last.

Feet are useful things to have when they are not enraged about something. The presence of the corn bluish known as the corn, however, will throw them into a violent passion and cause the owner to shift hurriedly from one position to another in search of peace.

The corn is a small unobtrusive object which is constantly coming in contact with the leg of a chair or being tramped upon by the affectionate feet of childhood. The small boy can locate his mother's pet corn at the first shot, on an average of six times a day.

The gout is a rolist foot disease which grows in Lunnon, and other parts of the British empire, and is harder to get rid of than a household of eager relatives. The gout is confined mainly to the upper classes, who have it with great frequency and enthusiasm.

The feet are also subject to the popular ailment known as the foot and mouth disease. This disorder is more prevalent during a political campaign than at any other time, and can only be cured by an adverse majority at the polls.

HOME PATRIOTISM

A PRINCIPLE WORTHY OF EMULATION IS THE PATRON-AGE OF HOME INDUSTRIES.

By Thomas J. Sullivan, Copyrighted 1912 by National Publicity Association.

You will often hear one man criticize another for his thrift and industry in his endeavors to advance his business or professional interests; it would seem that it was man's bounden duty to advance and prosper so long as his effort is expended in legitimate and honest channels.

It is unquestionably man's right in purchasing the necessities of life for his comfort and maintenance to do so at the best possible market price.

These statements are so undeniably true that there is no reason or occasion for argument.

In business many deals are often made, which after their consummation prove unprofitable, and this loss must be offset by the profits made in other deals; thus when a balance is struck the net gain or loss on the whole can be ascertained—very often an apparent gain may prove to be an actual loss when the business man's books are balanced.

For instance, take the case of a farmer. Every farmer is, or at least, should be a good business man; true, he works with his hands but in order to succeed he must also work with his head. The more he works with his head in the conducting of his farm and business the more prosperous and successful he becomes.

He sells and he buys. He is not only a producer, but he is also a consumer, but before he may consume it is necessary for him to produce. In order to procure the necessary capital to buy what he consumes he must first market that which he produces.

Logically the farmer's market is his local town. If it be a good market it should receive his full support in every possible way so that it may become better if possible.

If for any reason his local town fails to be as good a market as the neighboring town he should study the conditions and reasons why such is the case, and co-operate with his fellow townsmen in an effort to improve and build up their own town as a market place.

It is needless to remark that the patron of a catalogue house does not follow that course; on the contrary he does all within his power to destroy his home town, both as a market and purchasing place.

The catalogue buyer contributes largely to the destruction of home marketing and trading center, and decreases his own earning capacity and the value of his property by so doing. Here then is an example of an actual loss to offset the apparent gain he may have made in the low price which he paid for goods which he bought in the foreign market.

But there are other losses to be considered.

He not infrequently buys damaged goods, goods which are inferior, and for which he is obliged to pay an exorbitant price. By so doing he impoverishes his home town by sending away the money which is needed there to improve and retain the community's financial standing.

He also prevents his property from increasing in value by decreasing the volume of business of the local business man.

The assessed valuation of the property of the community in which he lives is also reduced by the reduction of the amount of business transacted by the local merchant. Their stock of goods decreases in value as the length of time increases in which they lie on the merchants' shelves.

Through his patronage of the mail order houses and his failure to patronize the local retailers and thereby assisting them to expand their business he materially aids his own trading center to become known as a "cheap town," and thus, no one visits the town either for business or any other purpose unless they are forced to do so.

The representatives of the large wholesale and jobbing interests seldom visit towns which are on the down grade for the reason that their sales have been so curtailed and the orders from headquarters are to sell for cash only; therefore they pass them by with the remark that they "will stop next time." When the travelling salesman once passes up a town it is very seldom that he again places that town on his list.

The loss accruing through this agency alone effects every class of trade and citizen in the small town; the hotel keeper first, the banker, newspaper publishers, professional men, and all wage earners and consumers of every product.

Ambition is replaced by laziness, shiftlessness, and general disinclination to exert any energy or effort which would tend towards progressiveness.

The really ambitious people; young men and young women, who wish to accomplish something in life leave these slow sluggish towns and take up their abode in places where effort and bought at the expense of the nerves often the very souls of the young. This condition being the result of congested centers of population.

These are also some of the losses which must be charged up against the problematical profits found in the catalogues of the mail order houses, and they are not only financial losses but they are moral losses as well. If it were possible to gather all of the facts in regard to any small town which is suffering from the catalogue trading abuses, the losses of dollars and cents could be largely estimated, but the social and moral loss could never be measured or calculated.

It would be well for the mail order buyer to consider these things before he again sends his money to an out of town merchant.

STATE COMMISSION ANNOUNCES RATES

Adjustment Effected on Application of Superintendent of Municipal Plant.

Evansville, Wis., Jan. 14.—Superintendent E. F. Cary of the Municipal Electric Light and Water plant of this city has received a new schedule of rates from the state railroad commission and Evansville citizens will pay for their water and electricity in accordance with the new schedule beginning from Jan. 1.

The application for a revision was made about six months ago by Superintendent Cary and not by any private citizen. There had been no change in the rates for the most part since the city took over the plant and the management was aware of a number of inequalities. The request was made to the state commission to make an adjustment as it was believed that better satisfaction would be secured for all parties concerned.

There were no radical changes in the rates although some were raised above the present schedule and others were lowered. The result, it is expected, will be equitable and satisfactory to all patrons of the plant.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY.

If you take a sword and draw it, An' go stick a feller thru Gov'mt ain't to answer for it; God'll send the bill to you.

—Lowell.

In modern days there is much talk of "group sin."

One author illustrates the term, in this way: The farmer gets a small price for his apples, only a little more than enough to pay for the picking, the barrels and the shipping.

Yet in the nearby city his apples bring high prices, in some cases 5 cents each.

The margin between the farmer's price and the price to the consumer is enormous.

In this jumping up of prices some one has shined against society. But who? It is hard to put your finger on any individual who is responsible.

"The author calls this a 'group sin'."

This must be a comfortable doctrine to sinners.

Let us see if it holds water.

If any crime is committed some one person commits it. Others may be contributory, but if so each of them is equally guilty. The individual is the wrongdoer.

In the marketing of the apple some one is grossly overcharging. Several may be doing so, in fact, but if so each of them is responsible.

Even though we cannot point them out the fact remains.

Officers of the law are often unable to find the criminal, but that does not lessen his responsibility for the crime.

"Guilt is personal."

"God'll send the bill to you."

We cannot bide behind any group or government or corporation or class. The individual is the unit.

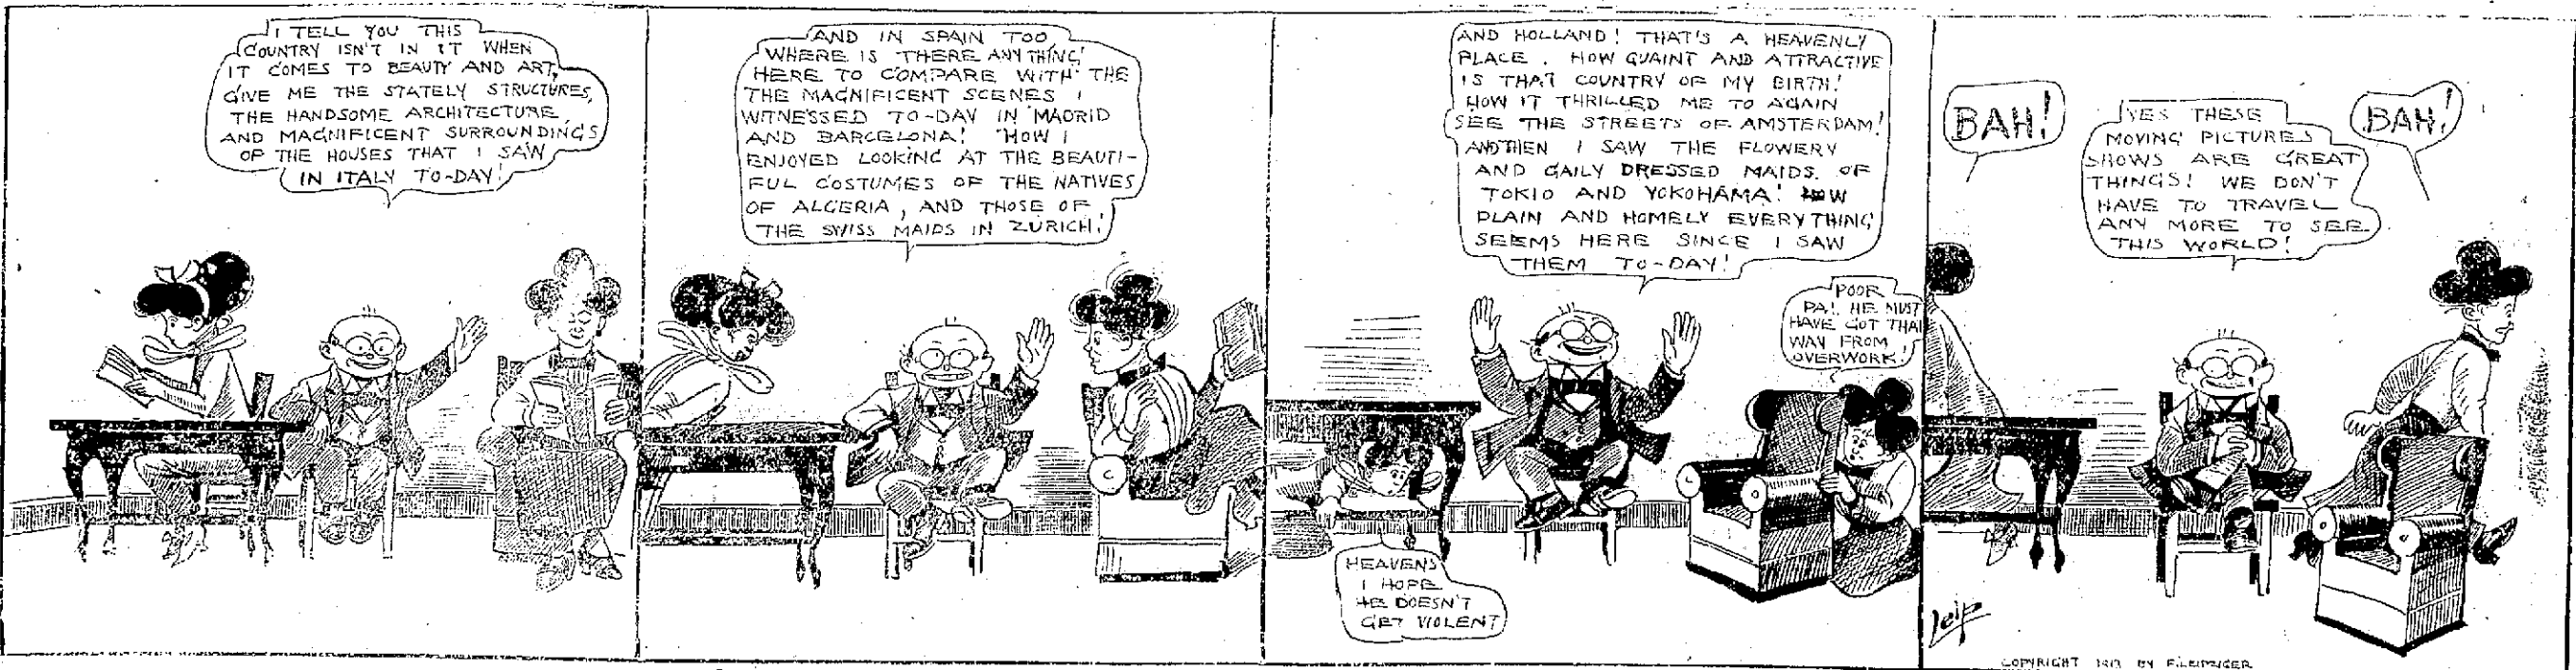

Where a wrong is done some person does it.

Whatever the seeming circumstances surrounding him, it was a matter of free choice whether he did it or not.

On him rests the burden of guilt. "Thou art the man."

Plausible sophistry, vague and glittering generalities, furnish no escape.

We must learn the lesson of individual responsibility.

FARMER'S WIFE ALMOST A WRECK

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Own Story.

Westwood, Md.—"I am a farmer's wife and do most of my own work when I am able. I had nervous spells, female weakness and terrible bearing down pains every month. I also suffered much with my right side. The pain started in my back and extended around my right side, and the doctor told me it was organic inflammation. I was sick every three weeks and had to stay in bed from two to four days.

"It is with great pleasure I tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I have followed your directions as near as possible, and feel much better than I have felt for years. When I wrote you before I was almost a wreck. You can publish this letter if you like. It may help to strengthen the faith of some poor suffering woman."—Mrs. JOHN F. RICHARDS, Westwood, Maryland.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

Tells Consumptives How He Got Well

Tuberculosis is said to be curable by simply living in the open air and taking an abundance of fresh eggs and milk. Unfortunately, some persons are benefited in this way; but the appropriate remedy for Consumption is Eckman's Alternative. Do all you possibly can to add to strength and increase weight; eat wholesome nourishing food, and breathe the cleanest and purest air—then, to the sensible rulings of right living, add the tonic and lung-cleansing effects of Eckman's Alternative. Read what it did in this case.

"Gentlemen: In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician, one of the leading practitioners, said that it was lung trouble. I took eggs and milk in quantities, but I got very little weight as long as I stayed in the house, but I kept on working and prayed each day that I might get well. I believe my recovery was answered for Mr. C. A. Lippincott, my employer (Lippincott & Co., Department Store, 306 to 314 Market Street, Wilmington, Del.), he had heard of a remedy called Eckman's Alternative that had done great good, and upon his recommendation I began taking it at once. This was about June, 1908. I continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally found the clearing of the lungs. I truly believe Eckman's Alternative saved my life. I sent my spleen later to the State Board of Health to be examined for tuberculosis bacilli, and none were found. My mother died from Consumption when I was about two years old.

"I make this statement so that others may learn of the wonderful merits of Eckman's Alternative. I regard my recovery as being miraculous."—JAS. SQUIRES, Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in eliminating the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman's Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. MOLLY McDONALD A TALE OF THE FRONTIER

By RANDALL PARRISH
Author of "Keith of the Border," "My Lady of Doubt," "My Lady of the South," etc., etc.
Illustrations by J. L. Barnes

These thoughts came swiftly, for his period of waiting proved to be but a short one. He heard the laughter and talk as the merry-makers came into the hotel from the dance hall, crowding the passage, and thronging in to where the tables were set. Then a rattle of dishes, and the steady shuffling of waiters rushing back and forth. Occasionally he could distinguish a shadow out in the hall, but never changed his motionless posture, or removed his eyes from the aperture, until she slipped noiselessly through and stood there panting slightly, her hand clapping the knob of the door. Apparently in the semidarkness of the room she was uncertain of his presence, while her white dress touched by the outside reflection made her clearly visible.

"It is all right, Miss McDonald," he murmured hastily, arising. "There is nothing to fear."

"You are here—alone?"

"Yes," smiling in memory. "There were occupants when I first arrived, but they were persuaded to depart. I had a suspicion you might prefer it that way."

"Yes," puzzled by his manner, yet softly pushing the door back so as to exclude the light. "I can see better now. Are—are you sure no one can overhear? I have something to tell you—something important."

"There is no one else here, yet some one might stumble into this room. It is not private, you know. We shall be safer on the porch outside. Will you take my hand, and let me guide you?"

She did so unhesitatingly, but her fingers were cold, and he could feel the twitching of her nerves.

"You are frightened—not of me, surely?"

"Oh, no!" a slight catch in her voice, "but I am running such a risk venturing here. I—I had to pretend a headache to get away. You must not condemn me until you hear why I came."

"I condemn? Hardly, Miss McDonald. I am merely a soldier receiving orders; mine not to question why. Here is the window; now sit down on this bench. I'll keep guard, and listen." His voice sank lower, a little touch of tenderness in it impossible to disguise. "Are you in trouble? Is it something I can aid you to overcome?"

She did not answer at once but rested her chin in one hand, and turned

"We Were Engaged to Be Married,"

her eyes away. Her breath came swiftly, as though she had not yet recovered from fright, and her face in the dim light looked white and drawn.

"Yes, you can," she began slowly. "I am sure you can. I—I came to you because there was no one else in whom I felt the same confidence. I know that sounds strange, but I cannot explain—only it seems natural to trust some people even when you do not know them very well. I do not there was nothing in the order as given to arouse suspicion. In obedience I flung my command forward, leading them on foot. We charged into a trap, and were nearly annihilated, and Shultz was either killed, or made prisoner. Two days later I was arrested under charges, was tried by court-martial, and dismissed from the service in disgrace. Early produced a copy of his written order; it read 'cautiously feel the enemy's position,' and Le Fevre went on the stand, and swore the original had been delivered to me. I had no witnesses."

She watched him with wide-open eyes, her lips parted.

"And she—this Vera Carson?"

The man laughed bitterly.

"Wrote him a letter, which the man actually had the nerve to show me when I was helpless, proving her falsity. I would not believe, and went back seeking her. But she had departed—no one knew where—but had first convinced herself that my name had been erased from my uncle's will. Two months later I heard that she married Le Fevre in Richmond."

"And she—that woman—actually asked you to meet her again tonight?"

"Yes."

"Did you?"

"I must plead guilty."

"Where?"

"Here; just where we are now; we were together half an hour."

She half arose to her feet, her hand grasping the rail.

"But I cannot understand. Why should you? Do you—"

"No; wait," he interrupted, venturing to touch her arm. "I came, not because of any interest in her, Miss Molly—but for you."

CHAPTER XX.

Molly Tells Her Story.

Her breath came in a little sob, and she sank back on the bench.

"For me? How do you mean?"

"Surely I had every reason to distrust her, to question her character, and I could not believe you realized the sort of woman she is. I felt it my duty to discover her purpose here, and to warn you if possible."

"And you have succeeded? You learned her purpose in your interview?"

"Not exactly," with regret. "My suspicion was merely stimulated. To tell the truth, we rather drifted into a renewal of our old quarrel. However, between what she said, and parts of another conversation overheard, I know there is a blackmailing conspiracy on foot in which you are involved. May I speak very frankly?"

"I certainly desire it," proudly. "I am not aware that I have anything to conceal."

"Apparently the scheme these people have on foot originated about Lieutenant Gaskins. He is wealthy, I understand."

"We were engaged to be married," he acknowledged frankly, his eyes upon her face. "That was at the breaking out of the war, and I was in my senior college year. We met at school, and I was supposed to be the heir to large property. She is a beautiful woman now, and she was a beautiful girl then. I thought her as good and true as she was charming. Since then I have learned her selfishness and deceit, that it was my money which attracted her, and that she really loved another man, a classmate."

She glanced up at him as he paused, but he resumed the story without being interrupted.

"The war came, and I enlisted at once, and received a commission. Almost our entire class went, and the man she really loved was next below me in rank."

"Eugene Le Fevre?"

"Yes; how did you know? Oh, I told you of him out there in the sandhills. Well, I urged her to marry me before I went to the front, but she made excuses. Later, I understood the reason. She was uncertain as to my inheriting the property of an uncle. We were ordered to the Army of Northern Virginia. Once I went home on furlough, severely wounded. We were to be married then, but I had not sufficiently recovered when I was suddenly ordered back to the front. I did suspect then, for the first time, that she was glad of the respite. I afterwards discovered that during all this time she was in correspondence with Le Fevre, who had been detailed on Early's staff. It was his influence which brought about my sudden, unexpected recall to duty. A few months later I was promoted major, and, at Fisher's Hill, found myself commanding the regiment. Early in the action Le Fevre brought me an order; it was delivered verbally, the only other party present a corporal named Shultz, a German knowing little English. Early's exact words were: 'Advance at once across the creek, and engage the enemy fiercely; a supporting column will move immediately.' Desperate as the duty involved, appeared

"I have been told so; yes, I know he is."

"This knowledge, coupled with the fact of your engagement—"

"My what?"

"Your engagement. I had heard it rumored before, and Mrs. Dupont assured me it was true."

"But it is not true, Sergeant Hamilton—"

"I cannot imagine how such a report ever started. Lieutenant Gaskins has been very friendly; has—"

"even asked me to marry him, but—but I told him that was impossible. He has been just as kind to me since, but there is nothing, absolutely nothing between us. I have never spoken about this before to any one."

If Hamilton's heart leaped wildly at this swift denial, there was no evidence of it in his quiet voice.

"The point is, Miss Molly, that Mrs. Dupont, and those connected with her, think otherwise. They are presuming on Gaskins' being in love with you. Mrs. Dupont can be very seductive. Little by little she has drawn the Lieutenant into her net. Believing him engaged to you, they have him now where he must either pay money for silence or be exposed. Just how it was worked, I do not know. The shooting last night was done to convince him they were serious. The fact that Gaskins later denied knowing who his assailants were—even endeavored to accuse me—is abundant proof of their success. He hesitated, wondering at her silence. 'What puzzles me most is why you were present.'"

"Present? Where?"

"At this quarrel with Gaskins last evening. As I ran by toward the scene of the shooting I passed you hiding at the angle of the barrack wall. Of course I have mentioned the fact to no one. That was why I made no attempt to defend myself when arrested."

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

W. H. Chapman, Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." A mean stuffy cold, with hoarse wheezy breathing is just the kind that runs into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Contains no opiates. Badger Drug Co.

The Theatre

"THE LITTLEST REBEL"

"The Littlest Rebel" Edward Peple's four act play, in which Mr. Marshall Farnum is the star, will be presented under the direction of A. H. Woods, at Myers Theatre, Saturday, Jan. 18, matinee and evening, in "The Littlest Rebel" which is a Civil War play. The author has made unique departure from the conventional story of the late unpleasantness. Instead of employing as a central theme the love affair of two persons, one from the North and the other from the South, he has taken for his topic the paternal love of two men, one actuated naturally and the other through sympathy. He has shown that it is not alone the love that exists in opposite sexes that will inspire to deeds of bravery, heroism and elasticity of duty, but a far stronger motive can exist when the chord of human fraternity is touched. Herbert Cary, a Southern scout, is seen as he is visiting his little motherless daughter who is living alone, hungry and ragged in a rough cabin by the mountain side after the burning of their home by Union soldiers. The father is about to be shot, but through the pleadings of his little daughter, Virgie the commanding officer of the Union Soldiers, Lieut. Col. Morrison, relents and allows the scout to escape. Later in the day a battle ensues during which the scout saves the Northern Colonel's life. They are both betrayed and taken prisoners and brought before a court-martial. Both officers are sentenced to be shot. Morrison as a traitor and Cary as a spy. The littlest rebel, as Virgie is called, seeks General Grant and pleads with him for the life of her father and Col. Morrison, explaining the circumstances through which the escape was made. She succeeds in arousing the General's interest and sympathy, and he makes a personal investigation as a result of which both men are finally pardoned. The methods employed by the author in bringing about the denouement are ingenious and true to life, the play is interesting and pleasing without offending the intelligence of the spectator. It is a stirring and exciting war play with a big war scene employing a great number of soldiers, which will please the lover of the thrilling and spectacular; but it possesses a greater degree of finesse and heart interest than one would expect in a war drama. It is very appealing in its situations and demonstrates that men, even in the midst of war, and with the full sense of the importance of strict discipline can still be swayed by feelings of love and sympathy. The exceptionally well balanced cast is headed by Mr. Farnum.

BEVERLY.

A. G. Delamater's production of George Barr McCutcheon's "Beverly" to be presented at the Myers Theatre, Jan. 19, matinee and evening is a masterly dramatization by Robert, M. Baker of Mr. McCutcheon's most popular entertaining and best selling novel "Beverly of Graustark." The dramatist has adhered very closely to the book, and admirably succeeded in retaining the romantic atmosphere of Mr. McCutcheon's charming little mythical principalities, and all of the beautiful scenes pictured in the book have been realistically and artistically transferred to the stage. An excellent scenic production has been given the play by Mr. A. G. Delamater and William Norris. All of the interesting characters of the story have been retained in the play and are more entertaining in real life than in the story. The Beverly of the play is Beverly Calhoun of Washington, D. C., a typical bright American girl, who accompanied only by her old colored servant, Aunt Fanny, journeys to Graustark at a time when that country is on the verge of war to visit Yvelite, the ruling Princess. She is deserted in the mountains by her escort, falls into the hands of what she believes to be a band of brigands, proceeds at once to fall desperately in love with the leader of the band who is wounded in her defense. She masquerades as the Princess, and after a number of humorous and exciting adventures is wooed and won by her outcast hero who eventually turns out to be none other than Prince Dautan. An excellent company that includes Oswald Jackson, Herbert Mack, Edna Buckley Roberts, and Malone Walters.

EAT PIE FOR HEALTH SAYS DR. HUTCHINSON

But Not Mother's Kind That is Too Soggy—Another Theory Explored by Specialist.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson of St. Louis, the noted specialist has exploded another of the pet theories that have held sway for years in regard to eating and strongly indorsed the eating of pie. He said, however, that the good old-fashioned, "pie that mother used to make" was not healthful, as the crust was too soggy, but that the modern bakery pie was generally a good article of diet. He declared the theory of simple living was wrong.

He also said that hard boiled eggs, the harder the better, did not stir up any conflict in man's internal organisms when eaten, but, on the contrary were readily digested.

Here are a few of the "tips" on eating given by the noted specialist:

Pie. Almost a necessity to life. Hot mince, cold mince, lemon (with or without the meringue), pumpkin, apple, raisin or almost any kind of fruit pie is good. Take one slice after the midday meal and a big slice after the evening meal if the evening meal is your principal meal.

Eggs. The harder they come the better, if you know how to eat them. A hard boiled egg is generally better than a soft boiled egg because you instinctively chews a hard boiled egg, while you must gulp the soft one. If you know how to eat the soft one it is just as good as one cooked hard.

Steady. Every one should have his steak served frequently. If you like it rare, have it rare, but often. If you like steak well done, have it well done. One is as good as the other. There is no real choice, except in the matter of taste.

SECOND STORM WAVE OF PRESENT MONTH

Is Coming Next Week, Says Foster, But Will Not Be As Severe As First Disturbance of Year.

(Copyrighted 1913 by W. T. Foster) Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent Jan. 19 to 23, warm wave 18 to 22, cool wave 21 to 25. This will be a radical disturbance from Pacific to the Atlantic but is not expected to be so destructive as were the storms of first week of this month. In bulletin of Dec. 21 warning was given of the severe storms and blizzards to occur first part of January and no one was so well prepared for them as were those who read these bulletins.

In that bulletin was also given a description of the influences of the planet Venus in causing cold waves, blizzards and frosts. All orthodox scientists know that Venus affects our tides; they suspect that it affects our weather but they do not know how to work out the problem and what they can not do they deny the ability of others to accomplish.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about Jan. 24, cross Pacific slope by close of 25, great central valleys 26 to 28, eastern sections 29. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about Jan. 24, great central valleys 26, eastern sections 28. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about Jan. 27, great central valleys 29, eastern sections 31.

On the Pacific ocean and the Pacific slope this disturbance will be of more than usual force, but not very dangerous. It will become more mild as it progresses eastward and in eastern sections will be only a moderate storm. Most rain or snow will fall east of meridian 85 as this disturbance moves eastward.

February promises most precipitation from vicinity of New Orleans to vicinity of Galveston and Houston, within 150 miles of Kansas City, on Carolina coast and in eastern sections about and north of Washington, D. C. Elsewhere the precipitation will be from about to much below the usual February average which we call the normal. March will be warmer than usual and precipitation very much the same as in February. The February thaw is expected to be followed by a freeze.

Indications are that grain and cotton dealers have some serious problems before them in reference to the 1913 markets. The crop-weather conditions will have a large control over prices and probabilities are that the conditions will be more varied and difficult to follow than usual. As our government seems determined to break down the manipulations of the market we may hope that crop-weather will be restored to its natural influence on the markets. With the peralicious influence of big speculators in controlling the markets a knowledge of future crop-weather will become more valuable.

In October, these bulletins stated that following Oct. 15 most rain would fall for five months in northern parts of South America, southern parts of North America and in the Caribbean Sea and that dry weather would prevail elsewhere on this continent between the Rockies and the Alleghenies. For the summer of 1912 we predicted that most rains would fall in vicinity of the great lakes.

These forecasts have proven practically perfect up to this time and there is no reason why our forecasts for crop-weather of 1913 should not be as good. Such forecasts are not based on any great mystery. It is only a question as to where the evaporation will occur. Last fall we calculated that the evaporation would occur for five months in the Caribbean Sea. The north Atlantic high carries the moisture from the Caribbean to the continent and of course deposits most of it along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts. The evaporation for 1913, after April, will be nothing like 1912.

FRITZI IS REALLY GETTING A DIVORCE

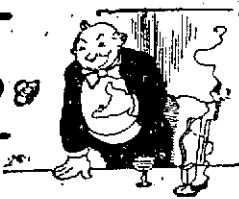

Fritz Scheff.

Two arts and two temperaments made just four sources of dissension in the romance of John Fox, Jr., author, and Fritz Scheff, actress, and after four years of more or less happiness, the couple has asked the courts to cut loose the bonds that were so heavily upon the two.

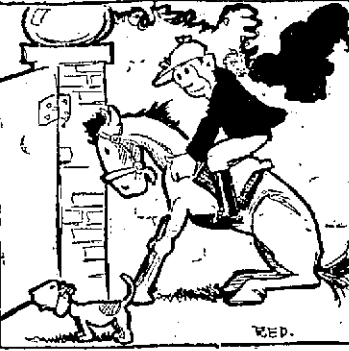

The report that Fox and his wife had separated was first heard last fall. It met with immediate denial. But it seems the denial was inspired by a desire to have the divorce proceedings conducted without publicity, for not long after gossip first became busy with their affairs the formal action was brought by Mrs. Fox.

Dinner Stories

Yo-ho! Tally-ho! And over field and ditch went the Pitchard Hunt. It was the first run of the season, and to make certain of the fun the master of the hounds had urged the villagers around to rally to his aid.

But where was the fox after which the hounds were streaming in full scent at this very moment?

Suddenly the horsemen were checked. In front of them was a gate, full six feet high. On the other side of the gate stood the local baker, backed up by the yeoman of the village.

"Open the gate!" yelled the M. F. II.

But the baker and his men did not budge.

Safe Well Guarded.

A remarkable new safe lock has been invented. It is provided with phonographic mechanism, so that it can be opened only by the voice of the owner. A mouthpiece like that of a telephone takes the place of a knob on the door, and this is provided with the usual style or needle, which travels in a groove in the sound record of the phonograph cylinder. Before the safe can be unlocked the password must be spoken into the original cylinder by the one who made the original record.

Something From Nothing.

Some children were once asked by an inspector at a school examination whether they knew the meaning of the word "scandal." One little girl, holding her hand up attracted the notice of the inspector. He desired her to answer the question, upon which she gave this definition: "Nobody does nothing, and everybody goes round telling it."

Too Ready With Assistance.

Smith—"Goldmore is a very generous old fellow. Do you know, he's always helping somebody out?" Jones (suddenly)—"Yes, I know; I was down to see his daughter the other night, and he helped me out, too."—Stray Stories.

"Open!" screamed the horseman, and grew purple in the face. "Open it—quick!"

"No fear sir," retorted the baker. "We found the fox, so's you could have your fun. And now, sir, me and my mates are the ambulance brigade, and we don't have no accidents once in a blue moon. Give us a chance sir! Try the gate. We'll treat all of you first-rate, sir, if you happen to stumble, like."

A city chap, the story ran, went on a farm to help with the harvesting in return for his board.

The first morning, when the farmer called him, it was so dark and frosty that the city chap couldn't resist another brief snooze before getting up. But he was, at that, out in the field by 4 o'clock.

"Fine morning!" he said to his employer, genially.

Through the dim dawn light the farmer scowled at him.

"It was," he said.

Two brothers, each of whom is nearly six feet and a half tall, were one day introduced by an acquaintance to a young lady. As she sat gazing up at the pair of giants in wonder and awe, she exclaimed: "Great heavens! Suppose there had been only one of you!"

Had Tested Them.

One evening grandma sent Johnny to the store to buy matches and told him to hurry, for she wanted to light a lamp. One hour later Johnny returned with the matches. Grandma said: "Johnny, the matches are not good." "Yes, they are," answered Johnny. "I have tried every one; they were all good."

Proper Way to Dry Umbrella.

Umbrellas when wet should be half-opened and set to dry with the point upwards; they will last much longer if dried in this way; when they are put wet into a stand in the ordinary way, the water settles in the top and rusts the ribs, which in time causes the silk to become rotten, and easily crack into holes.

W. R. Fox, 155 W. Washington St., Noblesville, Ind., says: "After suffering many months with kidney trouble, after trying other remedies and prescriptions, I purchased a box of Foley Kidney Pills which not only did me more good than any other remedies I ever used, but have positively set my kidneys right. Other members of my family have used them with similar results." You will save time and money, and avoid needless pain and suffering by taking Foley Kidney Pills at the first sign of kidney trouble. Try them. Refuse any substitute. Badger Drug Co.

Keeping Child's Ears Straight. When there is any danger of baby's ears growing out it is a good plan to let him wear at night a small open-work bonnet of cambric or nainsook, which will help to keep the ears flat. Care should be taken that it is not in the least tight and so prove uncomfortable for the little sleeper.

CROSS OR FEVERISH, HALF-SICK CHILDREN

IF TONGUE IS COATED, BREATH BAD, STOMACH SOUR IT MEANS A TORPID LIVER AND CLOGGED BOWELS.

Mother! Don't scold your cross, peevish child! Look at the tongue! See if it is white, yellow and coated! If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad; has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels are filled with poisons and foul, constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little waste clogged bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.
